Women in Medicine (WIM) Announces $5,000 LGBTQ+ Leadership Scholarship Awards for Medical Students
Applications due by April 19, 2024

Women in Medicine (WIM) will present three $5,000 LGBTQ+ Leadership Scholarship Awards for female and gender diverse medical students enrolled for a minimum of 6 months in allopathic, osteopathic, or naturopathic medical schools in the United States or Canada in 2024.

The application is on the WIM website (www.womeninmedicine.org) and is due April 19, 2024. The scholarship award will be presented at the WIM annual meeting, which will be held virtually on October 17 – 19, 2024, with the expectation that the medical student will attend as much of the conference as their schedules allows and will give a short (5 – 10 minute) talk on their activism and accomplishments in the area of LGBTQ+ health. Applicants should be in good academic standing and have actively contributed/demonstrated leadership for the LGBTQ+ community, especially at their medical school.

Women in Medicine (WIM) is an organization started in 1984 as a medical education retreat for lesbian and other sexual minority, female, and gender diverse physicians, medical students, their partners and their children. It is one of the longest standing LGBTQ+ medical organizations in the United States. Our annual retreat and conference provides CME credits for physicians. The conference also includes non-medical topics of interest to both physicians and their partners.

Each year WIM creates a conference-long mentoring program, matching medical students and attendings based on fields of interest. This is an incredible opportunity for students to learn from those of us "who have been there," to network, to strategize and plan careers. Don't miss out!! Usually about 20 medical students attend the conference on WIM conference scholarships, joined by the award recipients. The WIM conference scholarships include registration, room and board.
