

Valley Equipment brings enormous 1920s ceramic pot to ETSU as gift

Staff from Valley Equipment Co., Jonesborough, unload a huge ceramic pot beside the outdoor kiln yard at the Art Annex building. This 525-gallon, 6 1/2-foot tall ceramic vessel is one of a series created by General Ceramics of New York in the 1920s. Don Davis, director of the ceramics program in the Department of Art and Design, and nationally known potter Tom Turner have been working to save these historic vessels. Valley Equipment Co. donated this pot, which had been in its possession.
