PhD Candidate Proposal Signature Form

The Center for Nursing Research supports research produced by PhD candidates on an as-available basis. The number of awards each year is contingent upon the availability of funds returned to the College through indirect cost recovery. Each request will be considered as it is submitted. Projects should be for a one-year time frame; a no-cost extension for one year may be requested with valid rationale. Proposals that meet the criteria will be approved as they are received until the funds are expended. Proposals may be submitted at any time of year. Written materials required for a proposal to be considered can be found at: http://www.etsu.edu/nursing/conpages/research/09_PhD_researchfunds.pdf.

The criteria for selection are:

1. documentation of dissertation proposal approval by candidate's committee;
2. realistic, well-justified budget;
3. consistent with the mission and goals of the College;
4. description of site of data collection;
5. project can be accomplished within established time frame; and
6. high potential for results that will yield scholarly presentation and publication
