

Academic Advisement Council Agenda

Tuesday, February 22, 2025

Culp Room 311

Professional Development Facilitator(s):

Student Research Presentation on Communication and Storytelling Department Culture

Description: We are thrilled to host an ETSU undergraduate student who has conducted research in their department on student success, student sense of belonging, and departmental connections. Following two research questions – do majors feel academically connected to the department, and how can the department engage students to develop a sense of belonging – Kylie Harrison analyzed how connected students felt to their peers, professors, faculty, and department as a whole. She has also used the research findings to make recommendations to her department, which they have begun to implement! The project findings are applicable to any department looking to increase its connection to students.

Kylie Harrison - Communication Studies (Honors) & Philosophy (Justice, Ethics, and Law) Major

Updates:

DIGM 1600- Applied AI in Digital Media (3 credits)

Deborah Stephens & Dr. Todd Emma, Department of Digital Media

Course Enrollment Minimums

College of Arts & Sciences Representatives