

School Librarianship: Completer Effectiveness

2022-2023

The School Librarianship Program had 5 initial licensure graduates (M.Ed. in School Librarianship) in the 2022-23 academic school year. Twelve individuals who completed the program in varying years responded to a TEAM score survey request, and all twelve reported scores provided on their individual Tennessee TEAM evaluative instrument (completed by school principals). The Tennessee TEAM Library Specialist rubric considers such criteria as library management, collaboration, resource sharing, and instructional integration. The scale of the evaluative rubric runs from one to five, one being significantly below expectations, five being significantly above expectations. For ETSU's School Librarianship graduates surveyed in 22-23, three completers scored a 5 (Significantly Above Expectations), two scored a 4.5-4.75 (Significantly Above Expectations), five scored a 4 (Above Expectations), and two scored a 3.5-3.61 (almost above expectations).
