HIV Center of Excellence Recognized as Foundational Partner in Interprofessional Education by ETSU’s Center for Interprofessional Collaboration

Dr. Jonathan Moorman and Joy Bohannon have welcomed IPE student teams into the HIV COE, both in person and virtually, for several years to describe the team-based approach to care for patients at the Center of Excellence in HIV/AIDS, as well as the research that is being implemented with the Center. Assistant Director of IPE Dr. Alicia Williams stated, “We are so thankful for the site's partnership as one of our original community partners. They truly create an environment that shows our IPE learners that team-based care can be done, and done with excellence. Thank you for your continued partnership with IPE at ETSU.”

ETSU Health Infectious Diseases and the Center of Excellence for HIV/AIDS Care was one of three recipients of the first-ever Foundational Partner in Interprofessional Education award.

From Left: Dr. Brian Cross, Dr. Alicia Williams, Joy Bohannon, and Richard Campbell.

www.etsu.edu/com/ciidi/