MSEC 7/21/15 Action:

Pre-clerkship courses will determine a NBME course grade by using a regression analysis of the NBME subject exam score where the 90th percentile equals to 100% and the 10th percentile equals to 70%.

A score under the 10th percentile will be determined by a logarithmic calculation.

Course directors can petition Academic Affairs for a modification of this policy if specific circumstances lead a course director to conclude it is educationally inappropriate (e.g., if the NBME exam content and course content differ significantly).

The NBME exam should comprise the same percentage of the total grade as a major sectional exam in the course.
