

CASPer Test Dates

Test dates, listed below, will be available for reservation late March, 2018. Note that not all programs accept scores from all test dates. We will accept scores through the November test date.

Please review our entering class statistics on our website, and if you feel your application will be competitive, we suggest you register for the CASPer test early. This may help expedite your application process. No applicants to Quillen may progress to the interview stage without their CASPer scores being released to us.

Additionally, please note that the Quillen College of Medicine is a state-supported institution. Preference for admission is given to U.S. citizens or those who possess a U.S. Permanent Resident Visa and permanently reside in Tennessee. Applications from residents of Tennessee, university defined border counties and applicants from our contiguous Appalachian area are welcomed. The college gives preference to active duty military personnel and recent honorably discharged veterans of U.S. military service. From these groups, preference is given to applicants who have received at least a baccalaureate level degree from a regionally accredited institution prior to matriculation. Out of State Applicants not meeting the above criteria are strongly discouraged from applying here. Quillen is particularly interested in applicants giving strong evidence of their commitment to a career in primary care and/or rural medicine, helping further the mission of the school.
