

Amy J. Weber

Date of Birth: November 14, 1981

Place of Birth: Naples, Florida

EDUCATION

Doctor of Public Health: Health Services Management and Policy East Tennessee State University, College of Public Health – Johnson City, TN	Current
Doctor of Behavioral Health: Behavioral Health Management Arizona State University, College of Health Solutions– Tempe, AZ	Current
Master of Public Health: Health Services Management and Policy East Tennessee State University, College of Public Health – Johnson City, TN	05/2017
Bachelor of Science: Human Services (major) Public Health (minor) East Tennessee State University, Clemmer College of Education – Johnson City, TN Honors: Cum Laude	05/2014

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Guest Lecturer East Tennessee State University – Johnson City, TN Classes taught: HSMP 5500 - Health Services Administration	Fall 2017
--	-----------

HONORS AND AWARDS

Outstanding Online MPH Health Services Administration Award East Tennessee State University – Johnson City, TN	2017
---	------

PUBLICATIONS

- Garris, B., Lester, L., Doran, E., Lowery, A., & Weber, A. (2018). iCollaborate or not: Does technology impede collaborative learning among primary grade students? International Journal of Learning, Teaching, and Educational Research, 17(5), 64-81.
- Garris, B., & Weber, A. (2018). Putting the patient back in patient care: Health decision-making from the Patient's perspective. The Qualitative Report, 23(2), 286-310.
- Garris, B., Weber, A. (in press). Relationships Influence Health: Family Theory in Health Care Research. Journal of Family Theory & Review.

PRESENTATIONS

Weber, A., Leinaar, E., Kuku, O., Beatty, K., Smith, M. (2018, April 5). Differences in Access to and Utilization of Contraceptive Services Between Rural and Non-Rural Clinics in South Carolina. Poster session presented at the Appalachian Student Research Forum, Johnson City, TN.

PROFESSIONAL MEMBERSHIPS

- National Organization for Human Services
- American Public Health Association