PGY2 Internal Medicine Pharmacy Residency Program

Overview: The Bill Gatton College of Pharmacy (BGCOP) at East Tennessee State University (ETSU) is seeking applicants for a PGY2 pharmacy residency in internal medicine. The residency is accredited by ASHP and has a secondary emphasis in academia, which prepares the graduate to excel as a clinical faculty member or clinical specialist with significant teaching responsibilities. A teaching and learning certificate program is a required component of the program.

Additional Information: The successful applicant will spend a significant portion of their time working with full-time faculty members in the College of Pharmacy in the area of internal medicine. There will also be options for elective rotations in cardiology, critical care, emergency medicine, oncology, infectious diseases, and nutrition support. Ambulatory care is available as a longitudinal experience. The main clinical site will be the Johnson City Medical Center, a regional teaching hospital and level 1 trauma center that is affiliated with the East Tennessee State University (ETSU) Academic Health Sciences Center. There will also be an administrative experience exposing the resident to both pharmacy and educational administration. The successful applicant will instruct students in didactic, active learning, and experiential settings. The resident will be mentored to independently precept pharmacy students by the end of the residency year. Residents will also complete a research project and submit a manuscript for publication. The program also provides other opportunities to hone professional presentation and teaching skills. Residents may also serve on a departmental and/or college committee.

Qualifications: The successful candidate will have a Doctor of Pharmacy degree, have completed an ASHP accredited PGY1 residency, and be eligible for licensure in Tennessee.

Bill Gatton College of Pharmacy: The College of Pharmacy is located on the Mountain Home, Tennessee (Veterans’ Affairs) campus and is part of the Academic Health Sciences Center at ETSU, which also includes the Colleges of Medicine, Nursing, Public Health, and Clinical and Rehabilitative Health Sciences.
