ETSU's Sustainability Fee Committee serves the purpose of reviewing proposals for new campus sustainability initiatives and choosing which projects will receive funding for this semester/year. This initial meeting reviewed past projects such as the student-led EcoCan Research Project, LEAF event carts, the Pollinator Garden, and also discussed raising student support to continue pursuit of the Photovoltaic System Project which would expand ETSU's use of clean, renewable energy.

Proposals for new projects this semester or expansion on existing projects are due October 17th. The committee will be actively working on advertising for these proposals in the residence halls, Culp Center, library, and other campus areas.
