ETSU Students eligible for scholarships up to $2500. Science majors w/Fed. Pell grants eligible for $3000 Gilmore scholarships. Applications now being accepted for both courses. See contacts below.

Announcing 2 Special Courses for Summer 2010

Tropical Botany in Ecuador
BIOL 4956/5956 SA1
Spanish Language in Ecuador
SPAN 4956/5956 SA1
June 7-July 9, 2010
(Summer Session 1)

Spanish Language and Latin American Culture

Taught by Dr. Jerome Mwinyelle, ETSU Department of Foreign Languages
One month in Ecuador. 3 credit hours.
For beginning or advanced Spanish.
Learn Spanish as you travel and study plants with Ecuadorian students.
See museums, markets, farms, universities, cathedrals and gardens.
Explore Quito, Guaranda (our Sister City), and other cities and towns across Ecuador.

Tropical Botany

Taught by Dr. Tim McDowell, ETSU Department of Biological Sciences
One month in Ecuador. 3 credit hours.
"Diversity" Menu for Biology Majors
Travel to high Andes "paramo", Amazon rain forests, Pacific coastal mangroves, cloud forest and desert.
Conduct plant surveys & make herbarium collections in field sites.
Learn about tropical food and medicinal plants.
Study and travel with a group of Ecuadorian biology students.

Undergraduates with 2.75 min. GPA are eligible for $2500 scholarship for these study abroad courses!

For Information Contact:
Dr. McDowell mcdowelt@etsu.edu
Dr. Mwinyelle mwinyell@etsu.edu

http://www.etsu.edu/honors/international/exchange/summer2010.asp

Bomarea multiflora, a tropical vine.

Mt. Chimborazo, Ecuador. 20,230 ft.
Travel cost: $2000 + airfare to Quito. This includes all meals, lodging, and travel within Ecuador for four weeks.

Summer 2009 Class in San Gabriel, Ecuador.
At Los Arrayanes Forest with Ecuadorian students.