- h. Return of TBR proposal, raise GPA minimum, BBA, Management.
- i. Return of TBR proposal, raise GPA minimum, BBA, Marketing.
- j. Return of TBR proposal, raise GPA minimum, BBA, Economics.

4. New business: curriculum and course proposals to be considered for the first time. All SALM proposals to be presented by Dr. Thomas Jason Davis.

In discussing the courses in item 4 below, it was noted that all proposals needed editing.

a. New course: SALM 3140, Leadership and Group Processes in Recreation Programming.

This course proposal was discussed in conjunction with 4g below (as the two courses are related). Dr. Davis summarized the reasons for the course proposal, which was discussed in detail by the committee. The following recommendations were made:

On the Approval Snapshot under Rationale, write out the full name of the NRPA; Under Credit Hours (maximum) change the 3 to N/A. Under Prerequisites delete “or permission of instructor” and if necessary include it in the course description. Modify the Course Description by starting “Examines various styles...and group processes that are considered...” and delete the final sentence beginning “Students will examine...” Under Course similar to courses in other departments change the no to yes. Under Contact Information for similar courses include contact information for Dr. Roberston in HDAL. Under Staffing list the names of faculty qualified to teach this course.

On the Course Syllabus under Learning Outcomes, change “understand” to a measurable verb. Under Grade Assignments delete all descriptive narrative leaving only the title of the assignment and the percentage of the final grade that the assignment is worth. Under Attendance Policy change to word “revive” to “receive.” Under Required Textbooks, update the text to the newest edition, and delete “Other readings as assigned.”

Having made these recommendations, Mozen suggested a motion to accept the proposal with the changes discussed. Swango-Wilson seconded the motion which passed with all in favor.

b. New course: SALM 3240, Sport Governance.

Dr. Davis introduced this proposal which the committee then discussed with him, making the following suggestions:

On the Snapshot the Rationale for Proposal include mention of accreditation requirements. The Credit Hours (maximum) be changed to N/A. The Course Description begins “Establishes the foundation for...” Delete the last sentence of the Course Description. Change the Proposed Implementation Term to Fall 09 and list all faculty members qualified to teach the course.

On the Course Syllabus modify the Purpose and Goals to explain why you are teaching the class (purpose) and what the class will achieve (goals). Modify the sixth Learning Outcome to make the verb measurable. Under Assignments make mention of the 3 tests, and under Grading Criteria clarify that this is a points (rather than percentage) scale. Move the books listed under Required Reading to the Bibliography section.

A motion by Langenbrunner to accept the proposal with the discussed changes was seconded by Green and passed with all in favor.

c. New course: SALM 4110, Seminar in Parks & Recreation Management.

After Dr. Davis summarized his proposal for the committee, they discussed it with him in depth, making the following suggestions:

On the Snapshot: The Course Title be changed to “Professional Development in PARM”; the Credit Hours (maximum) be changed to N/A, the phrase “or permission of instructor” be removed from the Prerequisites and included in the Course Description if necessary; the Course Description should be revised removing reference to “senior level seminar,” and the phrase “Adequate with current staff” be removed from the Staffing section.

On the Syllabus: The Purpose and Goals should be revised to reflect the purpose and goals of the class, the phrase “to be determined in class” be removed from Major Course Topics (this is just a sample syllabus, not the definitive syllabus); the final Learning Outcomes changes “Understand” to a measurable verb; the narrative description of the assignments be removed from Grade Assignments leaving only the title of the assignment and the percentage that it is worth; The Grading Scale should be modified so that an F grade is for 59-0; and the “Plagiarism and Cheating” policy be modified to remove the ambiguity of “F or zero.”

A motion, proposed by Campbell and seconded by Mozen, to accept this course proposal with the changes discussed passed by acclaim.

d. New course: SALM 4200, Adventure Programming.

Dr. Davis summarized this course proposal before the committee discussed it in detail with him, making the following suggestions:

On the Approval Snapshot: Revise the rationale to include an indication that is in emerging area/focus in the discipline; Change Credit Hours (maximum) to N/A. Remove the phrase “or permission of instructor” from the Prerequisites and add them to the course description if necessary; Revise the Course Description; modify the Proposed Implementation Date to read Fall 2009; and provide a listing of faculty qualified to teach this class.

On the Course Syllabus: Delete the last sentence under Purpose and Goals and insert a listing of the course goals; Insert the term “Advanced” before “concepts of leisure, recreation, and play” under Major Course Topics; Modify the Learning Outcomes so that all verbs are measurable; Under Major Assignments – Trip Planning, delete the last sentence; Under Major Assignments – Field Experience change the last sentence to indicate more clearly that students who fail to attend this field experience will automatically fail the class; Under Grade Assignment delete all narrative descriptions of the assignments, leaving only the title of the assignment and the percentage that it is worth; Under Other Information – Plagiarism and Cheating Policy, clarify the “F or zero”; Update the Required Textbook to the latest edition (2005) and delete the phrase “Additional Reading as assigned.”

A motion put forward by Green to accept the course proposal with the discussed changes was seconded by Dotson and passed with all in favor.

e. SALM 4240, Research Design & Evaluation in SALM.

This proposal was discussed in tandem with item 4f below because the committee felt that there was not enough differentiation between the two courses as they were presented here.

The committee made the following suggestions:

On the Approval Snapshot revise the Rationale for Proposal to indicate that there is no research class in the major and that adding one meets the research component of your accreditation standards. Change the Credit Hours (maximum) to N/A; select “No” under Course repeatable for credit? Change the Proposed Implementation Term and list the names of all faculty qualified to teach the course (under Staffing).

On the Course Syllabus revise the Major Course Topics to differentiate them from those of SALM 4245. Modify the Learning Outcomes to differentiate them from SALM 4245, change the verb of the second outcome (Understand) to a measurable verb, and split up the fourth outcome into two “Use the computer...” and “communicate results...” Correct the typographical error in the Grading Scale for the grade of F (59, not 69) and modify the “Make-up Exam Policy” and “Plagiarism and Cheating Policy” to clarify the ambiguity between “F or zero.”

See 4f below for the motion relating to this course.

f. SALM 4245, Assessment & Evaluation of Leisure Services.

As this course was almost identical to SALM 4240 the committee suggested that the recommendations for SALM 4240 be applied here where appropriate and that the creator modify the proposals to make the differences between the courses clear.

With this in mind, Deadman proposed that these courses (SALM 4245 and SALM 4240) be rejected and returned to the creator with the request that they be modified to make clear the differences between them. The motion was seconded by McGary and passed with all in favor.

g. Substantial course modification: SALM 3105, Programming & Leadership.

This course was discussed in conjunction with item 4a above (as the two courses are closely related). Dr. Davis introduced the proposal which was then discussed in detail by the committee, making the following recommendations:

On the Approval Snapshot under Rationale for Proposal make clear that the Leadership component of the course is being transferred to SALM 3140 (see 4a above). Under Proposed Catalog Description, use the present tense. Change the Proposed Implementation Date to Fall 2009.

On the Course Syllabus modify the Purpose and Goals to give a separate iteration of what are the course goals and what is the purpose of the course. Under Learning Outcomes delete all numerical parenthetical references to accreditation standards, and change the initial verbs for outcomes 1-4 so that they are measurable. Under Grading Scale modify the B or B- to include 83. Under the Attendance Policy change “revive” to “receive” and clarify “For zero.” Under Required Textbooks the publication date is 2003.

LeRoy Frazier put forward a motion to accept this proposal with the discussed changes. Seconded by Langenbrunner, the motion passed with all in favor.

5. New Business: TBR proposals.

a. Substantial Curricular Modification, SALM.

Grube suggested that it might be a good idea if she and Dr. Davis worked on this proposal and it was brought before the committee at a future date. With this in mind, LeRoy Frazier put forward a motion to reject the proposal. Seconded by Campbell, the motion passed unanimously.

6. Adjournment

There being no more business to discuss, Deadman made a motion to adjourn which was seconded by Mozen and passed with all in favor.
