ETSU celebrating Women’s History Month with a great lineup of events

The 2013 National Women’s History Month theme, Women Inspiring Innovation Through Imagination, recognizes American women’s outstanding contributions to the fields of science, technology, engineering, and mathematics commonly referred to as STEM.

This March, thousands of programs and events will highlight the many organizations and programs working to promote women’s and girls’ interest and participation in STEM. From engaging elementary students in STEM to fighting pay discrimination, their efforts are actively working to expand opportunities in the STEM fields.

The ETSU campus community will celebrate Women’s History Month with an outstanding lineup of special events and lectures during March 2013. The following outlines the programs slated for this month dedicated to celebrating the accomplishments of women.

“I Question America,” a one-woman stage play starring E.P. McKnight (pictured left), kicks off the ETSU Women’s History Month program lineup. This powerful production is the story of Fannie Lou Hamer. Scheduled for Tuesday, March 5, 2013, at 7:00 p.m., location is the D.P. Culp University Center, Culp Auditorium.

Theatergoers are in for a mesmerizing journey into the life and times of this driven heroine during the Civil Rights Movement when noteworthy stage, motion picture and television actor McKnight presents her powerful, one-woman historical play. During this jubilant and captivating journey through time, McKnight brings to life on stage the lives of many characters that interacted with Hamer’s journey through early childhood, youth and adulthood. “I Question America” celebrates Hamer’s ability to overcome seemingly insurmountable obstacles and achieve her life’s callings with her undaunted faith, belief in herself and the Civil Rights Movement.

Co-sponsors for “I Question America” are the Office of the Multicultural Affairs, Black Affairs Association, and the Women’s Resource Center. For more information, contact the Office of Multicultural Affairs at 423-439-5377.

Celebrating International Women’s Day is scheduled for Wednesday, March 6, 2013, from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. This recognition event is sponsored by the students enrolled in the “Women in Global Perspective” class. An information booth will be set up on the Cave Patio, D.P. Culp University Center. This group of dedicated students will highlight challenges faced by women worldwide and efforts to expand health, safety, and human rights.

The Women’s Studies Program continues the Women on Wednesdays Lecture Series during March 2013 with a talk by women’s studies student Shae Keane (pictured left). “Women in Rwanda” will be presented by Keane on Wednesday, March 6, 2013, at noon. Location is D.P. Culp University Center, Dining Room 3.

Keane will discuss her research and findings from her hands-on exploration of the surviving Rwandan women from the 1994 genocide. She spent Fall Semester 2012 in Rwanda studying the global implications of the genocide of Rwandan women that occurred during this shocking period of political and civil unrest. For more information, contact the Women’s Studies Program at 423-439-4125.

“Going Global: Highlighting ETSU Women’s International Work and Building New Opportunities” is scheduled for Wednesday, March 20, 2013, at noon, in Sam Wilson Hall, room 345. The Women’s Studies Program will host a panel of faculty and students who have done international work in Peru, India, Rwanda, and Poland. Panelists will briefly discuss their own experiences, followed by an open discussion with the audience on how to build one’s own study abroad program. A light lunch will be provided. For more information, contact the Women’s Studies Program at 423-439-4125.

The Nick-Paxton Lecture keynote speaker is Diane Rehm (pictured left), National Public Radio host and personality. “A Conversation with Diane Rehm” is scheduled for Thursday, March 21, 2013, at 7:00 p.m., with a Book Signing and Reception to follow at 8:15 p.m. Location for the lecture is the Martha Street Culp Auditorium, D.P. Culp University Center. The Book Signing
Candlelight Vigil – Honoring Survivors of Abuse

The seventh annual Candlelight Vigil – Honoring Survivors of Abuse is scheduled for Thursday, March 21, 2013, at 7:00 p.m. Location is the Amphitheatre, D.P. Culp University Center.

All students, faculty, staff, and community members are encouraged to join us to honor survivors of abuse and celebrate the resiliency of survivors. A brief program of music and thoughtful reflection will be followed by a reception. Sponsors for the Candlelight Vigil are OASIS (Outreach and Advocacy Sexuality Information for Students), ETSU Counseling Center, and Women’s Resource Center.

For more information, contact Rebecca Alexander, Kristen Feemster, or Jennifer McGhee, ETSU Counseling Center, at 423-439-4841 or e-mail oasis@etsu.edu.

Worley to present ‘S.A.F.E.’ program

On Tuesday, March 19, 2013, ETSU Public Safety Officer Amanda Worley will facilitate “STOP Violence Against Teenage and Adult Women” for the Women’s Personal and Professional Enrichment Lunch Break Series. Location is the East Tennessee Room, D.P. Culp University Center, at noon.

The National Self-Defense Institute’s (NSDI) ‘S.A.F.E.’ PROGRAM is an initiative to STOP Violence Against Teenage and Adult Women. ‘S.A.F.E.’ (an acronym for...
Self-defense Awareness & Familiarization Exchange) provides teenage and adult women with information that may reduce their risk of exposure to violence.

Worley, who is the Tennessee state R.A.D. (Rape Aggression Defense) director and advanced R.A.D. instructor, guides participants through a 13-piece full-color folio packed with safety information every woman should know (a complete folio packet is given to every participant). Teaching that "90% of self-defense is awareness, risk reduction, and avoiding confrontation; and only 10% is physical", and focusing on both mental and physical preparedness, 'S.A.F.E.' provides women with solid public safety-awareness information to incorporate into their daily lives.

Join us for this important Women's Personal and Professional Enrichment Series Lunch Break Seminar. For more information, contact the Women's Resource Center at (423) 439-5772.

Debra Travis to speak at ETSU

On April 9, 2013, Debra Quayle Travis, M.F.A., M.F.T., is guest speaker for “The Art of Meditation: From Stress Reduction to Bliss to Liberation.” Location is the East Tennessee Room, D.P. Culp University Center, at 5:00 p.m.

Travis’ talk will focus on the immediate and long-term benefits of walking a spiritual path with emphasis on the benefits of meditative practice. During her presentation there will be time for questions and answers, discussion, and hands-on meditation practice.

Travis has been on the Buddhist path for almost thirty years. She has a firm foundation in the Theravadan tradition and, while living in Asia in 2005 and 2006, she began her study and practice of Vajrayana. She has taught many meditation classes and retreats to students in a variety of settings, including in her private psychotherapy practice, in hospitals, universities, at professional conferences, in prisons, and in foreign countries. Travis is a student of Lama Tsultrim Allione who has authorized her to teach. She is Tara Mandala’s program director and a resident teacher. She also is the guiding teacher for the Tara Mandala Pagosa Sangha located in Pagosa Springs, Colo.

For more information, contact the Women’s Resource Center at 423-439-5772 or Mary Ann Littleton, associate professor in the Department of Community and Behavioral Health, at 423-439-5247.
